Art Unit: 1745

1. Applicant's election of Group I in Paper No. 8 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-11111250. ('250)

See the English Abstract to '250. In view of the aluminum laminate sheet vessel 1 around the power generating element in '250, the claimed recitation of the conductive exterior member is met.

4. Claims 1, 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kozu et al.-US Patent 6,451,474. ('474)

See the abstract in '474 along with Figures 1 and 4 and column 11, lines 15-29. Because the anode and cathode terminal leads are welded to members 33 and 30, the latter members support the same.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shibata et al.-US Patent 6,358,644. ('644)

Art Unit: 1745

Reference is made to column 1, lines 12-18 of '644 and Figure 2 along with column 5, lines 7-52. The wrapping member supports the cathode and the anode in '644.

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either '250 or '646.

Each of these references '250 and '646 set forth portable electronic equipment (an oral translation of '250 was conducted) used with the plate shaped battery. The only claimed feature not shown by these references is the use of the battery with a portable radio terminal. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in this art at the time the invention was made to have used the battery in either '250 or '646 in a portable telephone because the same is a radio terminal. (It is noted that many such phones have radio transmission.) To use the phone in this way would allow for longer use of the phone with the improved battery therein.

9. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: none of the prior art teaches the claimed plate shaped battery including the support member having a temperature detector along with a heat transfer member. The art also does not set forth the anode or cathode being electrically connected to the exterior member.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

10. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to John S. Maples whose telephone number is 703-308-1795. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday from 6:15-3:45.
